Village Delivery System
In connection with the postal delivery system to be established Oct. 1st, several questions have arisen which need to be explained.
The delivery system will start Thursday, Oct. 1st, without fail. A civil service examination will be held on Saturday of this week, and the carrier appointed from among the applicants. The carrier will start out at 7:45 a. m., delivering the mail which came the night before, and again at 1:15 p. m., delivering the mail which came on the forenoon mail.
It is not expected that everyone will care to be served by the delivery system, and those who do not may retain their boxes at the office as at present.
Houses must be equipped with some sort of mail receptacle, either a box or a slot in the door. These should be placed at the front entrance, and be easily accessible at all times.
Letters stamped with the proper postage may be collected at the door, but coin for postage will not be placed in the box with unstamped letters.
There will be no more current postage on letters after Oct. 1st. This will apply to what is generally spoken of as a "drop letter."
It will be appreciated by the post office if patrons will make it known before Oct. 1st whether they desire to be served by the delivery system or retain their boxes in the office.

Amateur Night at the Strand
Several good acts by local talent were staged at the Strand Tuesday evening, after the first show, and generous applause indicated approval of the program.
The Misses Reta Shaw and Musa Taylor, entertained with songs and played their own accompaniment on keys. This act won first prize.
Fred Barlett and his trained rooster, at good tricks, had several good points, a crowing cock was in this specimen a spark of intelligence flashed for at least five minutes and he performed like real circus goods.
Any and Arva Lord, the well known twirl, carried away third prize with an act in costume, featuring singing and dancing.
Miss Mills appeared in black face with a monologue in regulation darky dialect.

Walter Mills Concert
A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Walter Mills and his artists at the Strand Hall, Friday evening, August 14, when one of the best concert programs for the season was presented. This recital was under the management of John Henderson, Carson, by reader at Christ Church, Norway, and given as a benefit for that society.
Miss Mills is a noted baritone, introduced to Maine audiences last winter by Prof. William R. Chalmers, director of the Maine Music Festival. This artist captivated the large audience which first number, by a voice of unusual strength and purity and by his unaffected manner. The last number on the program brought out an ovation which showed the heart of many of the audience. He recalled many times, and graciously responded.
Miss Mills was assisted by Miss Marion Haskell, violinist, and by Mrs. Ruth Cummings, pianist, both of Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of East Deering, were guests of their sister, Mrs. Edith M. Smith.

COOPER-QUODDY TIDAL PROJECT

FIVE THOUSAND MEN EMPLOYED IN CONSTRUCTION GREAT ADVANTAGE TO THE STATE OF MAINE

which the interests of the state and its citizens seem adequately preserved and of going ahead with the work at their own expense and at their own risk. If the enterprise is successful, the economic benefit to Maine will be incalculable, if unsuccessful, the state will have profited by the expenditure within its borders of many millions of dollars and by the long continued and lucrative employment of our citizens.

These waters are international, tidal waters, a potential source of tremendous energy now running to waste. The approval of this charter will constitute the precedent for the transmission of our river powers beyond the confines of the state. The sale of this tidal power, with the supervision and control of our Public Utilities Commission, a body of men whose intelligence, patriotism and ability no man questions.

I have had an exceptional opportunity to know Dexter P. Cooper, and to know his integrity, judgment and technical ability. We are not called upon to decide, solely on the basis of judgment, the feasibility of the proposed undertaking or to determine whether or not it will be profitable to its investors. We are simply to say whether these men are to be allowed to attempt the project, and spend here in Maine money for the development of tidal power on international waters in the vicinity of Cooper and Quoddy.

The work will employ some five thousand men for a period of four years. It is hoped there will be a steady flow of work, and the event of success, will make that prospect permanent.

I am heartily in favor of the Cooper-Quoddy Development project. I have looked for it and shall as continue until the vote is counted. I am satisfied with the charter and believe it adequately protects the public interests. Personally I take no risks. All the incorporators ask is the privilege of exercising the rights granted them under the charter passed by the last Legislature, a charter under which the project is to be carried out.

Special Meeting Oxford Pomona

Many Distinguished Grangers Present—Fine Meeting Held at Opera House

A special meeting of Oxford Pomona was held at Norway, August 15th, and was a most successful one. The meeting was held at the Opera House, and was attended by a large number of Grangers from all over the county. The program was well arranged, and the speakers were of high caliber. The meeting was a most successful one, and the Grangers of Oxford Pomona are to be congratulated for their efforts.

Family Reunion

A family reunion and incidentally a birthday remembrance, occurred at the home of Mrs. Carrie Philbrook, Sunday, August 16th, when a large number of family members gathered for a day of festivity. The occasion was most enjoyable, and the family members were most happy to be reunited.

PINE TREE LEAGUE GAMES

WEST PARIS HAS FIRM HOLD ON FIRST PLACE. NORWAY WILL PROBABLY KEEP SECOND POSITION. THE FIGHT IS FOR THIRD PLACE

WEST PARIS 12; SO. PARIS 9
West Paris, as usual, carried home scalps, Saturday, by winning from So. Paris. Both teams hit hard and the Southerners led in score-getting during the early chapters. Bunching long clouds in the fifth and sixth put West Paris in the front ranks where they remained by a narrow margin. The score:

NORWAY 14; OXFORD 8
A brace of errors was largely responsible for Oxford's defeat at that town, Saturday. Hitting was furious on both sides, with a long list of players hanging out scrapers to the fielders. Manager Odel Rich officiated in the box for Norway, and huffed a good game despite errors behind and strikeouts above. Both Delano and Quinn were in Oxford's box to hold the shag.

OXFORD DEFEATED NORWAY
Evening, Rowe and Scribner, the tossers from Oxford, captured three of the five games, winning with a rush. This is the visitors' first appearance here and they left a good impression with the spectators and players. Rowe proved a highest man, with his mate, Scribner, a close second. A return game is booked at Oxford this week.

Help for Old Folks

Old Age Should Be Happy—Not a Time of Sickness and Suffering

Too many people begin to suffer at middle age with constant backache, urinary ills and rheumatic pains and aches. Weak kidneys are usually the cause, and, if neglected, there is danger of hardened arteries, dropsy, gravel or Bright's Disease. Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic before kidney disease gets a firm hold! Use Dean's Pills. Thousands of old folks recommend Dean's.

Here is Norway proof:
Mrs. Luella Pennek, 3 Summer St., says: "I had some trouble with my kidneys and my back began to ache steadily. A dull, bearing down pain kept up for days at a time and made me feel tired and worn out. My kidneys were weak and acted too often and I also had headaches. I began using Dean's Pills and four boxes rid me of the trouble."

NOTE TO OUR NEWS
GATHERERS

Keep in mind that you are recording the news of your community and that the errors in fact will be your fault, therefore be accurate and write the news in the way that will please the readers of your times.

We feel that our news gatherers who make possible the advent of the Advertiser each week, do record the annals of the day as accurately as is humanly possible. We realize that occasionally information honestly given is in error, but is not intentional. Occasionally instances occur where just a little more accuracy and a trifle more detail would make better reading of the home news, but as a whole we feel confident we have a fine force of town correspondents who are trying to help us make the Advertiser the home paper for the people of Oxford County and nearby towns, and for friends and relatives now located elsewhere, but interested in the old home place.

We appreciate the untiring efforts of our correspondents in sending in the news and we know our readers join in expressing to them their appreciation. Often times the news is so interesting and so timely that it seems to be a little more than a writer, but there is no knowing the pleasure and satisfaction that self same item may give someone somewhere, so let's all pull together, send in all the news you can, from all the sources you can, and we will put out more interesting Advertisers during the fall and coming winter.

Are You on the Sucker List?

Doubtless you have heard about the sucker list.

On this list are the names of those who are regarded as easy picking by the smooth talking stock promoter—by the clever salesman who promises big profits—the man who'll make you rich in a day, but instead makes you poor—who'll double your worth over night, but doesn't.

Perhaps your name is on the list, who knows?

Anyway, investigate before you invest. Get the facts and get them from a reliable source.

If you do this, you will never lose your savings.

Consult your banker before investing. He knows good investments and will gladly advise with you.

SAME FINE
Prices Reduced—

THESE low prices are not for new cars to sell at new prices. They are for Studebaker cars identical with which have been in tremendous demand at prices during the past eleven months.

They are for Studebaker cars so well for such high quality materials that net profits of the past six months have averaged only 5 per cent. The rest of the money the public went into making a car with scores of thousands of excess transportation.

These earnings are a triumph for the one basis of manufacture. No manufacturer on efficient basis could have made a dollar selling Studebaker quality at Studebaker prices.

Studebaker is the only one-profit car in the field. Only Ford and Studebaker make for cars all bodies, all engines, all gear sets, all springs, differentials, axles, steering gears, greasings and drop forgings.

Thus we save and pass on to purchasers which many other manufacturers must pay side parts and body makers.

No "yearly models" makes sales just. Thus we were able last January to reduce already low.

Then we announced that Studebaker was no more "yearly models" to artificially depress the hands of owners.

Sales instantly started to soar and have the vast Studebaker plants to maintain production throughout the summer, in the declining production for the industry in general.

To one-profit savings, we thus add savings to long continued peak production. These announced August 1st.

We still use genuine leather, mohair upholstery.

Little Travelogues

By BLANCHE GILL

MOTHERLESS LITTLE TURKEYS

Slate Furnace was the first iron furnace built west of the Allegheny mountains in about 1800. It was situated near Owingsville, Ky., on Slate creek. It was at this furnace that the cannon balls were cast that were used by General Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans.

In 1814 Louis Philippe, exiled king of France, visited the owner of Slate Furnace and spent his time hunting and fishing in this region. The citizens called him "King Philip" and during the eighteen months of his stay there he became very much attached to him. The attachment was mutual, as the French government sent twice for him to return before he died.

The picturesque old stack of the furnace remains standing to this day, grown up with trees and wild flowers.

Near this place lies the beautiful Blue Grass farm of an uncle, where we have spent many happy days. One summer while visiting here we observed a large bronze turkey gobbler strolling about the farm with ten young turkeys following him.

We were surprised at this and asked my aunt about it. She told us that the turkey had died soon after her eggs were hatched and that the gobbler had mothered the little ones ever since. He took them to the fields each day for grasshoppers, bugs and flies, and he saw a hawk in the air he gave the cluck, cluck, cluck of warning and the little turkeys would run and hide in the tufts of tall grass.

Or if he discovered a snake in their day's wandering, he would give the same peculiar noise of alarm, and all would hurry and follow him away. At night he hovered them and kept them well until they were large enough to look out for themselves.

He was both father and mother to the pretty little turkeys and cared for them well until they were large enough to look out for themselves.

Tenor's Singing Saved

Two From Awful Death

The late Joseph Mass, the famous tenor, during a visit to the United States some years ago, was very fond of hunting the buffalo on the prairies. When engaged in this sport on one occasion with his friend, Boucault, the celebrated Irish actor, they were suddenly attacked by a number of Indians, while far from their encampment. Bound hand and foot, the captives were dragged to the Indians' halting place, where a fire was made. While awaiting their fate, fearing that that night would be their last, Boucault said to his friend: "Joe, sing for me!" Mass, who had never sung in such terrible circumstances, tearfully complied with his friend's request, and began to sing some old favorites, recalls the Family Herald. The Indians pricked up their ears and leaned forward to listen as the great tenor's voice thrilled through the night air. When he stopped they pricked him with their spears, saying, "More, more," and he was compelled to continue. Song after song he sang, until at length he noticed that on the Indians were dropping off to sleep round the fire. When the last man had dropped off to sleep Mass crawled to a knife lying on the ground and managed to cut Boucault's bonds, and his friend then quickly released him.

Chinaman Sails Junk

in His Own Fashion

The oldest seagoing vessels of the world are the junks of the Yellow sea of China. These junks are "highly decorated vessels, with tall, poops and rounded sides, reminiscent of the days of Drake and Columbus." "Junks of this type are in existence still which were built in the time of Kien Lung, say some 150 years ago," says the London Yachting Monthly. "A junk will not leave to, and John Chinaman is fully aware of this. He doesn't even try; his plan is far simpler. He lets his halyards go with a run, and the sail is off his vessel in a moment. The high poop acts as a windmill, and brings him head to wind; the low bow prevents him from falling off the wind. "If the blow is likely to last any time, he lays out a sea anchor. His next procedure is to burn a loss stick and probably a few pieces of paper to his household god. After that, as there is nothing more to do except eat or sleep—he does so."

Missed Accustomed Noise

Along the Irish coast are lighthouses which fire a signal gun at three-minute intervals during foggy weather. To a visitor the noise is irritating and unbearable, making sleep an impossibility; but to the seasoned lighthouse-keeper no such noise is a disturbance. Its regularity reassures a disturbed sleep soundly and peacefully during a winter night while his wife fired the roaring three-minute signals—that is, he rested comfortably until by some shortcoming one of the charges failed to explode.

Instantly he awoke, sat up, gazed wildly around, and shouted, "Maggie! What the deuce was that?"

Coca-Chewing Evil Habit

The chief vice of the Indian and half-breeds of Bolivia is chewing coca. A man who has the habit can always be detected by the immense lump in his cheek. The general effect of the drug is to dull the nerves and stiffen the resistance to fatigue. Under its influence natives endure great hardships and will work for days at a time on nothing except coca leaves, which they begin to chew at breakfast time and continue to chew throughout the day. As with all narcotics, the persistent use of coca wrecks the nervous system and dulls the intellect.—Youth's Companion.

How He Felt

There had been a shipwreck and the passengers were taken to various houses in the neighborhood to be made comfortable. They were received as guests of importance in one home and conversation was essayed. "There were no fatalities, I understand," said one, "but how did you feel when the waves dashed over you and you thought each moment might be your last?"

"Every wet, madam, very wet," was the reply.

Took It Literally

The two were discussing the carelessness way in which trunks and suitcases are handled by some railway companies.

"I had a very nice idea for preventing that once," said one of them, smiling reminiscently. "I labeled each of my bags, 'With care—China.'"

"And did that have any effect?" asked the other.

"Well, I don't know; you see, they shipped the whole darned lot off to Hongkong."

Compositions of Oil

Olive oil is practically 100 per cent fat and has energy value of about 4,000 calories per pound. The Association of Official Agricultural Chemists includes among edible vegetables oils and fats of sufficient importance to warrant standardizing the oils of cottonseed, peanut, sesame seed, poppy seed, coconut, rapeseed, sunflower seed, and maize.

Of these peanut oil bears the closest resemblance to olive oil in its chemical and physical properties.

Living's Item Up

"There is no one in the world," says the Brunswick (Ga.) News, "that knows more about raising children than an old maid, and there is no citizen that knows more about public oration than a woman who never pays dues to one of them, never is the father of any movement for the city's good, takes an active part in the community affairs, except to knock. The hard-ast knocker and the loudest critic can always be branded as the biggest shirker—he carries his 'bell' with him."

If you are in his class, take stock of yourself, right-about-face and become a real citizen and a community builder."

Roped by Telephone

By HERBERT L. McNARY

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE OFFICE door opened and Cyril Tinkham swung around from his desk with a hopeful, expectant look he kept in stock to greet his clients, but the look faded and "what it did not actually turn into one of disappointment, still it faded. He was looking into the countenance of his friend, Roscoe Blake.

Those features were usually illumined by a smile, but Roscoe was not smiling now. Maybe that meant trouble, and maybe that meant a client—even Roscoe might be embroiled in legal difficulties.

"Something wrong?" asked Cyril. "You said it," grunted Roscoe. "That's why I'm here."

"You want legal advice," declared Cyril confidently. "I don't either. I'd have to pay for that. I want sympathy. Besides it's too late for advice."

"What happened?" "I got hooked for $500." "Cards or horses?" "Neither—the stock market."

"Haven't you a comeback?" "Now, you're looking for a case," laughed Roscoe. "Nothing doing, I'm not a poor loser. I'll take my licking, but just the same I like to pour my tale of woe out on somebody. I could use that $500."

"What was the stock?" "Secco Copper." "Never heard of it," declared Cyril with finality.

"What? You mean to tell me, Roscoe, that you bought an unlisted stock?" "Worse. I bought it over the telephone from someone I never saw."

"Well, of all the fool stunts. I thought you—"

"Wait a minute," interrupted Roscoe, rising from his seat and crossing to the window. "I said I wanted sympathy, not a lecture. You never listened to this bird who talked to me. He was an artist and deserved all he got, including my $500."

"Well, no artist would get me over the telephone."

"You seem confident. I'd like to get this chap to rig you and make a bet on it. He owes me that much at least after roping me."

"Go ahead," taunted the lawyer. Roscoe looked out at the dreary buildings and then he brightened. "All right, it's a bet. How much?"

"How much do you want to make it?" asked the lawyer. "Make it the $500 I lost."

"You want to lose an even thousand, I see."

Roscoe smiled. "Did you ever hear that saying about he who smiles last?"

A week or two elapsed before Cyril Tinkham picked up his desk phone to answer a voice that immediately intrigued him. There was something magnetic about the tone, some indefinable personality.

"Mr. Tinkham? Mr. Barker speaking on the recommendation of some very prominent people who have selected you as an enterprising young lawyer to interest in a new invention. We need representative men to endorse it and get it started. You might naturally expect that such a proposition rather sensibly would come over the phone; but when you talk to me over the phone, it happens that only by this method can I give you a demonstration. This invention is something that will revolutionize the telephone industry as you will readily understand when I tell you that while I have been talking to you, you have been scribbling on a red blotter with a yellow pencil."

Cyril gasped and snapped his head away from the mouth-piece, which he inspected in amazement.

"I don't wonder you spring away," continued the voice, laughing pleasantly. "And now let's have a further demonstration. Do something and I'll tell you what it is. You have just put the pencil in your right hand, and now—now you place it in your left—your right ear—you are now standing up—now you are at the desk—now you are dancing—now you are waving your arms. Does that satisfy you, Mr. Tinkham?"

"It certainly does," beamed the cocky lawyer. "And you want me to take an interest in it?"

"Not exactly. We just want you to vouch for it in our advertisements."

"But don't I get a chance to come in on it," protested the lawyer. "Well," hesitated the voice. "The issue is small and about taken up. I might be able to procure you a thousand shares. Would you take that?"

"Certainly. How much do I pay?" "You pay $500 to your friend Roscoe Blake in accordance with the terms of a bet you recently made. And now, if you will glance out your window running at right angles to yours you will see where Roscoe has been watching you make a darn fool of yourself all over your desk."

Couldn't Condemn Frame
The profiteer was showing off the picture gallery of his new house. He had scarcely had time to look at the pictures, but had ordered magnificent frames for them.

When the guest stopped opposite a picture, and said: "Ah, an old master, surely—oh, yes, this is very old," the profiteer said, hurriedly: "Yes, but it's a new frame."

About the only thing with pep enough to rise to the occasion at this season is the thermometer.

If you are ready to despair of mankind, think how long it has been since you saw a quill toothpick.

It may not be significant, but there are few modernists in districts where fried chicken is served every day.

It might be worse. In a great author's collected works not over two-thirds were written before he learned how.

Norway and Vicinity Apples for Hungry Printers

Don Seitz, the veteran newspaper man, knows the direct route to a printer's heart. He breezed into the Advertiser office, Tuesday forenoon, tugging a large bag filled with Red Astrachan apples, grown at his Summit Spring property at Harrison.

Don, reminiscent as usual, explained promptings behind the gift were from memories of the days in 1877, and later as a lad he held the chair of printer's devil in this office, under "Uncle" Simeon Drake.

"In those days," remarked the veteran, "Subscribers dropping in to renew, incidentally contributed apples and general produce, it was the custom. Pamphlets, printers were fed and the generous subscriber made chesty by a complimentary local item in the next issue, telling all about the visitation of Providence, etc."

In respect to the memory of by-gone days, we officially note that the apples were devoted to "treating the house."

Every person directly connected with "getting out" the Advertiser plunged into the bag and offered thanks. Don has made a precedent, hence we shall look forward to an annual presentation and print the customary "local."

WHEELS ROLLING IN CANADA

NORWAY GRANGE

Norway Grange will hold its regular session on Saturday evening, Aug. 22.

After the business meeting there will be a "Poverty Social." No man with a tiled shirt and stand-up collar will be admitted, and the ladies will wear their
"kaliker" dresses.

There will be a lunch and all grangers
are invited to come and see their friends.

The one wearing the most appropriate costume will receive a prize, but if you come dressed up, you will have to pay a fine.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs.
Harry Deane and mother, Nellie Deane,
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clough and daughter, and a friend, Miss Fisher of Rum-ford, and Mrs. Lucy Kilgore, also Miss Mabel Stanley, were guests at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. George Brownell at their cottage, Breezy Knoll, Faggs-Pond.

RIDLONVILLE

Engagement Announcement
Announcement has been made to their friends of the approaching wedding, ceremony in September of Miss Sigrid Sylvia Iversen of Portage Lake, Aroostook
County, and Oren Edgar Decker of 27
Richards Ave., Ridltonville.

Miss Iversen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Iversen of Portage, her father being proprietor of sporting camps and the lake steamer. After her graduation from the Caribou High School, she taught several terms of school in the county.

For some time she was organist at the Episcopal Church in Caribou. Later she trained for nursing at a training school in Newton, Mass. During the recent war she went overseas and rendered very efficient service as a Red Cross nurse in the hospitals of France. In recent years she has been a popular nurse much in demand among the hospitals and private homes of Aroostook.

Mr. Decker is the son of Edgar A.
Decker and the late Mrs. Ella M. Decker, of Ridltonville, having been residents of that place some over twenty-five years.
He has had a long experience in teaching in the public schools of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, being a graduate of the Mexico High School and Cas-tine Normal School, he has supplemented these courses with further study at Boron Academy, Springfield, Mass., Valpara University in Indiana, and New York University. He has traveled widely in the United States and is especially interested in historical research. At present he is principal of the public schools of Portage, where he has been located during the past few years.

After the wedding, which will take place at the home of the bride's parents in Portage, the bridal couple will be at home in that town, occupying a cozy and handsome cottage, overlooking one of the prettiest sheets of water, which indent the surface of northern Maine.

WATERFORD

Mrs. Wilson and daughter, Annie, who have been spending the summer at their home, have gone back to Somerville, Mass.
Freeman Douglas is spending a week with Mrs. Douglas at Cedar Cottage.
Mrs. Delano took her son, Franklin, to the hospital for an operation, last week.
Miss Wilkins has been confined to her room for a few days.

ADVERTISING DID IT

Wrigley, the chewing gum man, has explained how he built up a business of millions of packages a day.
He has done it by sticking to his one line and advertising it. He spends over a million dollars a year in buying newspaper space to tell the world about 5 cent chewing gum. He has educated people to chew gum and to chew Wrigley's.
He did not stop shouting as soon as he attained attention.
He says you must keep it up or the buyers will forget you. Whether yours is a 5 cent or a $50,000 business, keep telling about it.

GILEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lary of Norway were called here by the death of his sister, Mrs. Adeline Kimball.
Vera-Fraser has completed her duties
at Leighton & Cole's store.

Cash Daniels has gone to Shelburne, N.
H., where he has employment for D. P.
Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watson and daughter, Myliss, of Westfield, Mass., are spending the vacation with his sister, Mrs. John Richardson.

Miss Marion Taylor is visiting relatives
in Gardiner.

George Tracy of Bartlett, N. H., has employment at Leighton & Cole's store.

John Woods has purchased a new Dodge sedan.

Carl Richardson was a recent guest of friends in Bartlett, N. H.

Mrs. Adeline W. Kimball
The friends of Mrs. Adeline W. Kimball, wife of the late Jason Kimball, were sorry to learn of her death, which occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
John McBride, last Monday evening, after a short illness.

Mrs. Kimball was born in Sebago, 57 years ago, and has been a resident of this town for 84 years. She is survived by two sons, Cleve W. of South Paris, Elmer E. of Portland, N. Y., and one daughter, Mrs. Nettie McBride, one brother, Frank Walker of Waterville, two half brothers, Joseph and Hosea Lary
and several other relatives.

The funeral services were held at the home, Thursday afternoon, at 2 p. m., Rev. S. T. Achenbach of Bethel officiating. The burials were in the cemetery.
T. Heath, J. E. Richardson and H. L.
Watson. Interment was in the Pine Grove Cemetery. There were many beautiful flowers from relatives and friends.

ALLEN-WEST BETHEL
The lawn party and sale that was to be held, Friday, on the church ground, had to be held at the grange hall on account of the bad rain storm. In the evening the drama "Mr. Bob" by the home talent was acted to fine effect. It is to be played at the Bethel Grange Hall at Newry Corner, Monday evening.

Dean Martin came home from the Portland Hospital, Friday evening, much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Mills, Miss Hattie Lindsey of Wildwood Park, Portland,
and Mrs. Ella Mills of Poland Springs, were dinner guests of Mrs. Emma Mills, Sunday.

Miss Vera Libby of Gorham, N. H., was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles McMillan.

Miss Laura Hutchinson is having a vacation of two weeks and started Tuesday morning for Presque Isle, in company with Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Tibbets and three children, it being Mrs. Tibbets' old home.

PLUM TIME

Recipes From a Millerville Lady
Of course we all remember the old song, "Cherries are Ripe" and as the cherry season is over, we will turn our thoughts to the delicious plums, of which there are a few of the various ways to serve them.

A very nice sauce can be made by cutting up the fresh plum of any kind into a bowl or deep dish, add sugar, mix carefully, let stand over night, or through the day, if for supper, the sugar and ice blends into a rich syrup, making a delicious sauce. Whipped cream added (but not mixed in) is also nice served with it.

Plum pie, made with two crusts, like apple pie, is fine.

Short cake—Bake a rich crust for strawberry short cake, chop plums medium fine, add sugar to taste. Spread between two layers of cake. Serve with whipped cream.

Plum Steamed Pudding—1 pint flour,
2 teaspoons cream tartar, 1 teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, rub into flour
one tablespoon lard, add one cup plums,
stoned and cut in halves, and mix milk,
batter, not too stiff, with sweet milk.
Steam two and one-half hours. Sauce for puddings, made with one cup plums,
one pint water until soft, mash, strain
through coarse strainer, add small piece butter, and one cup sugar, mixed with one heaping tablespoon flour, boil ten minutes. Flavor with lemon, serve hot.

A very nice conserve for sandwiches
for picnic lunch or for tarts can be made by using 3 lbs. plums (remove the stones before using), 1 lb. sugar, 1 lb. raisins, raisins, grated rind of 1 orange and pulp of
2. Cook slowly, for three hours, then remove from stove and add the broken meats of one lb. walnuts, seal in glass jars.

Plum jelly is also delicious for tarts,
jelly layer cake, or jelly roll. The abundant plums is most preferable for jelly, although the big purple Lombard is delicious.

TEACHING FEAR OF THUNDER STORMS

"Children, come right in here this minute."
"Why, Mother, we are playing a game."
"I don't care if you are. You all come in. There is going to be a shower."
"But, Mother, it is not raining yet."
"There is going to be a thunder storm."
Do you want to get struck by lightning?"

Then the children come in meekly enough, but with a look of fear on their faces. Arrived in the house the mother continues, "Now shut that door. Come away from the window. Do not sit near the chimney."
And there is more of the same line of talk. Now do you wonder that there are millions of people who are stricken with fear whenever there rolls up a black cloud?

Another Mother says to the children,
"See the bright streaks in the sky. That is the same kind of electricity that gives us our lights."
And when the thunder follows, perhaps she will tell the story of Hendrick Hudson. Or she may give some explanation why we should not create fear.

"But," you say, "Lightning does strike and often kills." Yes, but it is very often does it kill. Statistics show that there are more people killed in these United States by falling down stairs every year than there are by lightning.
And many times as many are killed by automobiles. Stop for a moment and see how many persons you know who were actually hurt by a thunder storm.
And do not teach the children to be afraid of what they cannot help. And one thing more, remember that when the thunder comes the bolt has passed, and there is no danger from the noise. One parent taught her children that the lightning flash was but a glimpse into heaven, and the thunder was the closing of the door that had been opened. You do not see that? Well, it is better than teaching a fear that it is almost impossible to get rid of in the older years.

You never build a house that does not have some bad feature about it. Even the air circles have the disadvantage of not being real.

Old Bill Says
HEATHEN OR NOT, WHICH?

A few days ago the minister came to my home and stopped to supper. He was delivering hand-bills to advertise a meeting on the lawn of the Stow church, these hand-bills read: Are the towns of Stow
and Chatham heathen or christian towns?
Now in defense of my home town of Stow and of the adjoining town of Chamham, I wish to say that more people in these two towns go to church, according to their population than there is in Fryeburg or Lovell. Now if you go home to church, how many would you have to get out in other towns? Why your church wouldn't seat them!

Then, on the other hand, who shall be judge simply because we are heathen? Does it prove that we are heathen? According to the sixth chapter of St. Matthew, sixth verse, where it tells us that "when we pray to enter our closet and pray privately and our Father which is in Heaven will reward us openly," does that sound as though we had to go to church and whoop
and wait till we have shamed all the bulfrogs in old Saco river to prove that we are christian?

I don't think so, anyway I am looking higher up for judgment than 800 ft.

Younger Girls' Camp Opens Soon

Much interest is displayed throughout the entire state in a project of the Maine State Sunday School Association, the camp for intermediate girls, which is to be held at Ferry Beach Park, Old Orchard, Maine, from August 25 to Sept. 1. Many training opportunities are offered girls and boys from 16 to 24, but almost none for those under 16. Camp Wa-Ta-Win (meaning Victory Woman) will offer just such an opportunity for the girls of the State of Maine, between 12 and 16 years of age. Miss Ruth A. Carter, State Young People's Superintendent, will be the director of this first camp, which will give such a fine opportunity for Christian training and fellowship. Miss Carter is an experienced camp director, being herself a graduate of the International Camp Conference at Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., and having this summer been the director in several camps conducted by the Maryland State Sunday School Association.

The camp program will include Bible study, with Miss Jessie Dell Crawford of Denison University, Granville, Ohio, as instructor; nature study, handicraft, special program of physical activities under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Adams of Burlington, New Jersey, including volleyball, baseball, basketball, swimming, etc. At sunset each evening a vesper service will be held on the beach or in the pine grove, and following this the evening will be spent around the campfire with stunts, singing and fellowship, dramatizations, etc. The buildings at Ferry Beach are splendidly adapted to such a program, including several large houses in which the campers will live, an assembly hall, class rooms, etc.

Besides the leaders mentioned, others will be Miss Ruth Owens, of Portland, who will act as Associate Director; Miss Alice Louise Brown of Woodford, who will be in charge of the worship program of the camp; and Mrs. Gerald P. Clifford, who will handle musical dramatizations to be given during the camp. Registrations for the camp should be sent at once to the office of the Maine State Sunday School Association, 562 Press Herald Building, Portland.

ACHES AND PAINS ALL OVER BODY

Mrs. Proctor Reports Great Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sharpsburg, Pa.—"I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all suffering women. I have taken four bottles of it and I feel 100 per cent better. I was dizzy and weak with no appetite, no ambition and with a tired feeling all the time. I had aches and pains all over my body and had the headache a good deal. I saw your advertisement in the 'Pittsburgh Press' and thought it might help me. I have been greatly benefited by its use and highly recommend it for all ailments of women."

Mrs. J. H. Proctor, Box 1, East Liberty Station, Pittsburgh, Pa. Such letters prove the great merit of the Vegetable Compound. These women know by experience the benefit they have received. Their letters show a sincere desire to help other women suffering from like ailments. Let these experiences help you now.

In a recent canvass of women purchasers, 98 out of every 100 report beneficial results by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Sold by druggists everywhere.

BRIDGTON'S ANNUAL FAIR

ELEVENTH ANNUAL FAIR OF BRIDGTON AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION. BIG CROWD, GOOD RACING, LOTS OF FAKIRS

The eleventh Annual Fair of the Bridgton Agricultural Association was held at the Bridgton Fair Grounds, August 12 and 13, with one of the largest crowds present in the history of the fair.

The three days' event was long in preparation and the various committees planned well as the results showed. A good deal of advertising was done this year, and a special effort made to get the crowd coming, which paid well.

While there was very little poultry on display there were some good cattle in the sheds. Stanley and Weston of Harrison were on hand with a large herd. Stanley Douglass, son of Warren Douglass, was there with his matched steers. That day timer, G. R. Bean, of Harrison was also in attendance, as was C. D. Tarbox and other familiar figures.

S. D. Connor, federal agent, was on hand with a display of the Pine Blister Rust pest and was very convincing and thorough in his explanation of the danger which menaces from this direction. The pest is on the increase in this locality, despite the efforts which have been taken toward its eradication. The advice Mr. Connor was giving was to pull up all the currant and gooseberry bushes, upon which the pest thrives. The Rust is a fungus growth. It is not communicated from pine to pine, but from bush to bush, and thence back to the pine again. Many of the farmers who are also large timber owners were much interested in this exhibit and could not help gathering much valuable knowledge from a study of the literature which Mr. Connor was distributing.

Next, perhaps, to the races, the chief attraction of Wednesday and Thursday were the ball games, the Bridgton team playing on the first day the old rivals, Harrison, and on Thursday, the Goodall Textiles, of Sanford.

The Norway Band, on Wednesday and Thursday, put a little old time ginger into the gathering and helped immensely to enliven the scene.

The ground man was busy the first day, allowing the various spaces to the fairs. There were considerable numbers of such spaces given out along the midway, in the hall, and at various other places about the grounds.

In the Secretary's room was Mrs. F. A. Webb, an efficient member of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Carl P. Peterson, Mrs. Mary B. Clark and Miss Marjorie Hebb. They were busy all day receiving the entries for the hall and for the outside displays.

While there was a fair first day crowd Tuesday, the great day was, of course, Wednesday, when the people turned out by the thousands thronging every part of the grounds. The real fun started at ten o'clock when the ball game between the Bridgton team and their old rivals was pulled off on the ball grounds in front of the grand stand.

The races, Tuesday, were the 2.17 and the 2.26 classes. There were six starters in the 2.17 and nine in the 2.27. Andora Girl, the little bay mare, owned by P. H. Hayden, of Lewiston, ran a great race. In the 2.17, taking first money, after finishing fourth in the first heat and sixth in the second. Her rival, first honors was Mainshot, the bay horse owned by F. N. Humeval, of Portland, who took the first heat, being nosed out by Eva Tango in the second heat, making a great stab for second money.

The summary of the 2.17 class was as follows:
Andora Girl, Hayden..... 6 1 1 1

Gleaming Silk, Wills..... 5 6 6 6
Time 2:17 1-4; 2:18 1-4; 2:19 1-4; 2:20 1-4.

In the 2.27 there were ten starters. Peter Azzoff from the stables of Robinson & Stiles of Oxford, took this race in three straight heats, the time being 2:17 1-4, 2:18 1-4, 2:19 1-4 and 2:18 1-4. Helen W., the bay mare owned by A. W. Walker of Haverhill, Mass., started in this race, finishing tenth, following an accident to the driver when there was a mix-up on the stretch, the driver being thrown and breaking his collar bone and two ribs. Carlisle Lassie, the brown mare owned by Lahar and Washburn, of Kennebunk, was distanced in the second heat and Miss Celeste, the chestnut mare from Mass., was distanced in the third heat, following an accident to the driver when she finished seventh in a field of ten starters.

The summary of the 2.27 class was as follows:
Peter Azzoff, Robinson & Stiles..... 1 1 1 1
Possibility, McWilliams..... 4 2 3 3
Grandstand, Jackson..... 3 3 3 3
Harvard, John, Smith..... 2 3 3 3

Helen W., Walker..... 10 10 10 10

The Wednesday crowd that congregated around the race track to witness one of the best races ever pulled off on the Bridgton course. There were three races, the 2.30, the 2.18 and the 2.20. In the 2.30 and the 2.18 class went six heats each before the winner was picked. Bonnie Gift took first money in the 2.30, winning the last three heats after dropping the first three. In the 2.18 class, the bay gelding from the stables of Benjamin Mason, West Peabody, Mass., took second money; Silkworm, the bay gelding from the stables of Irving Pottle, took third money and fourth money went to Jay Harvester, from the stables of Isaiah Morrill of Brunswick.

Peter Kennedy, the black gelding from the stables of Dwight N. Edwards, Lewiston, took first money in the 2.20 class, taking the first two heats, dropping the next three, 2, 3, 3, and winning the sixth. The second money in this class went to Ringwood, Jr., the bay gelding from the stables of Robinson & Stiles, Oxford; the third money went to Barney Gray, the chestnut gelding from Lewiston and the fourth money went to Northern Silk, the chestnut gelding from the stables of E. O. Kidder, Rumford.

In the 2.40 class of Harvest Maid, the black mare from the stables of Dr. F. A. Bragdon, Springvale, took the first money in three straight heats. Manrico Hall, the black gelding, from the stables of James P. Hines of Berlin, N. H., took second money; Leo S., from the stables of Staples & Smith took third money and Quindnesset, the brown stallion from the stables of G. W. Gerow of Norway, took fourth money.

There were but two events on Thursday, the final day. In the 2.24 class, one of those 100 to 1 shots, that you read about, turned the talent topsy turvey by winning in straight heats. Peter Isle, who was not considered to have the well known "Chinaman's Chance," just actually paced all around his field, and when he didn't go out and keep the lead most of the way, he still had speed enough to come from behind and beat them all at the wire.

In the first heat of the free-for-all, Banner M. carried the battle right to Auto Pace all the way, and apparently raced the black wiggler right off his feet. Yet he thrived on the little bay, and Red Hanafin behind the favorite, had a great teaming match, and Banner M. had little to spare when they came under the wire. Julia M. Direct was a victor.

Walter McGregor, the giant chestnut gelding, owned by Everett Massey, and driven by Johnny Amato, went out to make the pace in the second heat, and for the first three-eighths he carried them like a breeze. In the fourth heat, the first quarter in 32 seconds, then Hanafin sent Auto Pace up and the machine-like black gelding fairly melted over the ground. Banner M. trying gamely, held to his track, but he was shaken off decisively in the last 100 yards.

The favorite romped away with the last heat. Banner M. finished in second place, but was set back to third for long runs. In the third heat, Walter McGregor's hoople broke on the first quarter, but he kept on pacing smoothly to the half, when it began to bother him, and Amato drove him to the barn, the judges afterward placing him in the fourth.

With 10 starters in the 2.24 class, the stand had an unenviable field to handle, and several bad actors in the bunch made it all the tougher. When they had their several times for the second heat, someone yelled "Go!" and the first tier got away on the fly with Pointer Direct one of the favorites, in the lead. Starter Stevens, however, rang his gong, part of the field, unhearing, kept on and Pointer Direct needed the whole half mile at speed. The crowd ruzzed the stand, and when Joe Chaplin of Harrison dove the Direct horse back up the stretch he received an ovation.

None of them could touch Peter Isle after that, although Pointer Direct, Consequence Kate gave him a couple of good battles. A drizzle started shortly after racing began and continued until it was washed off at 4:30.

1000 Vacationists Praise Hollywood's Wonderful Vacation Tours

"Wonderful Vacation!" "The Trip of my Life!" "The best time I ever had!" "Go and see for yourself!" These words are typical of what hundreds of vacationists had to say on their return from the summer vacation tours to Hollywood-by-the-Sea.

Since the first trip in June, more than 2000 from different parts of the country have spent their vacations at Florida's All-Year Resort City. Of this number nearly half have gone from New York by boat. The Hollywood Vacation Tour and Hollywood itself have made good doubly with Florida's summer-time guests' satisfaction is a cold term to apply to their enthusiasm as they picture what they did, what they enjoyed, and what they saw on their memorable trip.

Hollywood Proves Revelation
But the 3-day cruise down the Atlantic Coast was but a certain raiser to the real vacation. Down at Hollywood the vacationists were whisked in a round of sight-seeing and entertainment which kept them spinning for eight days. In motorboats, they skimmed over Hollywood's wonderful waterways, built from Florida's Inland Waterway, a system of canals, channels, lagoons, and lakes that on Venice. By day, they golfed on Hollywood's splendid links; by night, they danced in the opulent Hollywood Country Club with its light tinted dancing floor, and automatically folding.

Then there was always the dip, day or evening, in the surf of Hollywood's clean, palm-shaded beach.

They found that Hollywood Beach with its Broad Walk and its brilliantly decorated $250,000 bathing casino is the loadstone of holiday makers all along the Golden Shore of Florida—the seaside resort for the entire back country.

Hollywood a Place to Live
Every one was amazed at what they saw in reality and in the picture. They marveled at the wonder of what is happening on this miracle-working stretch of Florida coast, this new haven from the stress of seasons.

Their surprise began with the summer climate of Hollywood, they felt the significance of the fact that the average summer temperature of Hollywood is 80.0.

They found Hollywood a real city, built in less than four years from wasteland, mangrove swamps, tomato land and pine. They found it a stable city with fine coral streets, artistic lighting, parks and parkways, modern business buildings, up-to-date hotels and apartment houses, schools and general homes—expensive homes and modest homes, but all beautiful in architecture and color.

Enjoy a Vacation and see Florida too
Vacation time for most of us in the northland is coming to a close. But you who still have vacations to spend can spend them most advantageously by taking one of the Hollywood $100 vacation tours. These specially conducted trips provide the utmost at the least expense. One hundred dollars includes every expense from the boat on to the return trip—transportation on boat and motor bus—meals and berth on the boat—meals and living quarters at the hotel—all entertainment and recreation.

Compare this with any vacation you have considered in cost and promise. Then add to it the opportunity of seeing Florida and the wonder of it—the Florida of which a whole nation is talking. Reservations are now being made. Act quickly. Decide to vacation at Hollywood, and act on your decision.

Reservations should be made immediately for one of the four scheduled sailings as accommodations are limited to 200 and date is filling rapidly.
